City of New Bedford's Post

City of New Bedford

DID YOU KNOW?...

New Bedford residents and many businesses pay less than the standard Eversource electricity rate due to the City's participation in the Community Electricity Aggregation Program. In 2016, New Bedford began partnering with 25 other cities and towns in our region to aggregate their electricity demand and negotiate better prices than the standard Eversource rate. Since the Program's inception, more than 31,000 New Bedford rate-payers have saved $32.9 million. The good news is that the Program has just been renewed for the next five years, so residents will continue to enjoy a discount from the standard Eversource rate without having to take any individual action: Everyone is automatically enrolled at the Aggregation Program's lower rate, unless they opt out of the Program.

The Program's consultant, Good Energy, will be holding virtual public information sessions to answer any questions and provide more information. Interested residents should click on the links below to participate in the sessions:
